Selected as one of Dentistry Today's "Top Twenty-Five Women in Dentistry" in 2010. Dr. Lee Ann Brady is a nationally recognized dentist and dental educator. Dr. Brady partners with patients to help them understand the present condition of their dental health, and all the possibilities dentistry can offer them to improve the appearance, function and health of their teeth. With this level of understanding, patients are able to make the best possible choices for their dental care.

In her practice she offers advanced esthetics, implant and restorative dentistry, with a special focus on temporomandibular joint disorders (TMJ/TMD), facial pain and sleep apnea. In addition to seeing patients, she teaches nationally and regularly publishes articles in major dental magazines.
